4 ● STORY

Story

ARTWORK

Synopsis of the story

- Don't explain every single detail
- They are not going to remember
- Spoil the ending if needed

5 ● PLAYABLE BUILD/VIDEO

PLAYABLE

If you have something playable,
switch to the build, keeping the deck
open

Ask them if they want to play

if so, hand out the controller and explain what is needed while they play

if not, play and talk at the same time

VIDEO

Have it ready, embedded in the presentation if you are using Powerpoint or in the video app
on mobile

Just play it but be ready to adjust the volume

Talk over the video only if needed

6 ● UNIQUE SELLING POINTS

USPs

It's one of the most important contents of your pitch, because:

- Publishers are looking for the next big thing...
- ... and the next big thing is probably something unique
- List only the most important (max 5)

Structure:

- USP
- Description

ARTWORK

7 ● REPLAY VALUE

Replay Value

ARTWORK

Another interesting topic as publishers are looking for long-lasting experiences (retention).

Explain why your game is replayable:

- NG+?
- Collectibles?
- Double/secret ending?

8 ● POSSIBLE EXTENSIONS

Possible Extensions

A publisher could decide to invest more on the project, expanding it beyond what you planned.

So, provide some options that are feasible for your team:

- DLCs?
- Multiplayer?
- Live Ops?

ARTWORK

9 ● OTHER ASSETS FOR VARIETY

Budget and Schedule

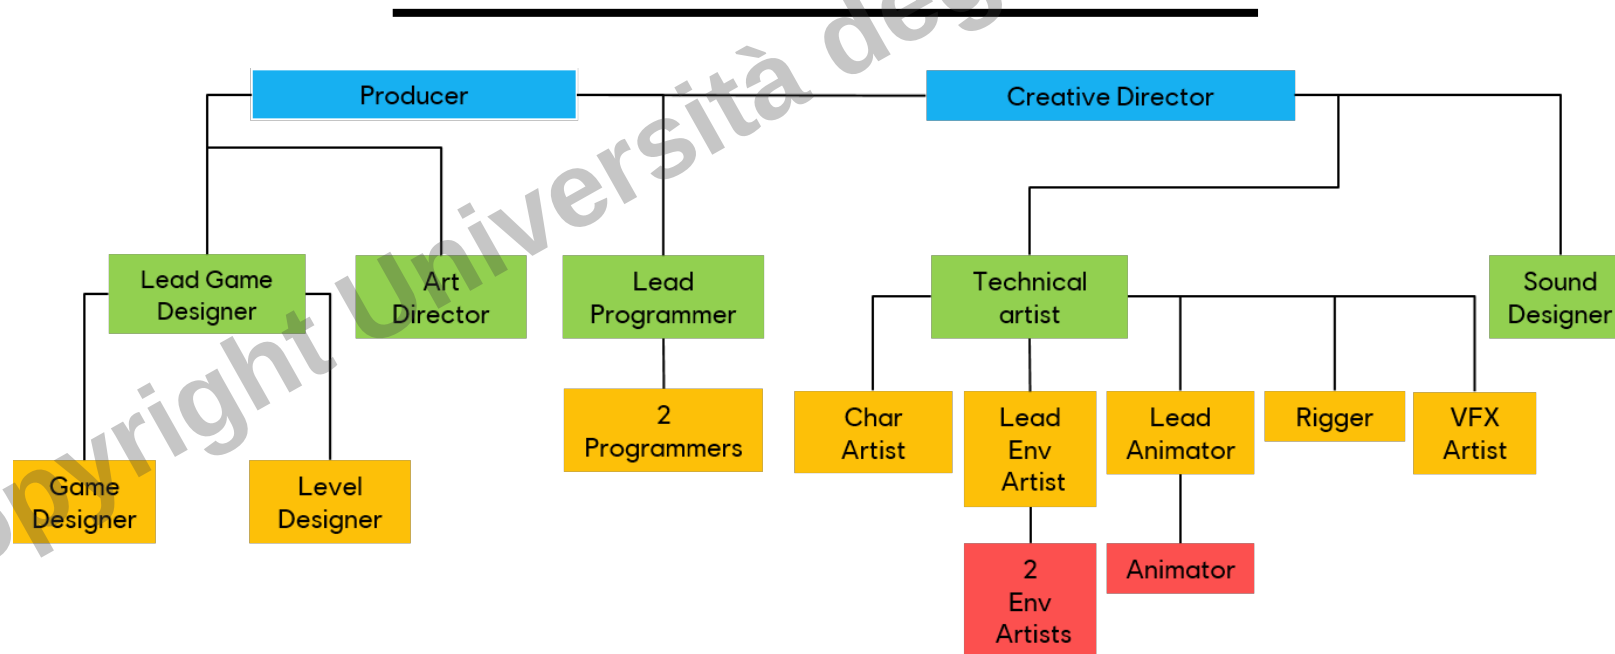

- Current status
- Budget
- Time to market
- Your request
- Timeline

- [illegible]

11 ● TEAM BREAKDOWN

Team Breakdown

Explain how your team is structured in a visual way – be absolutely coherent

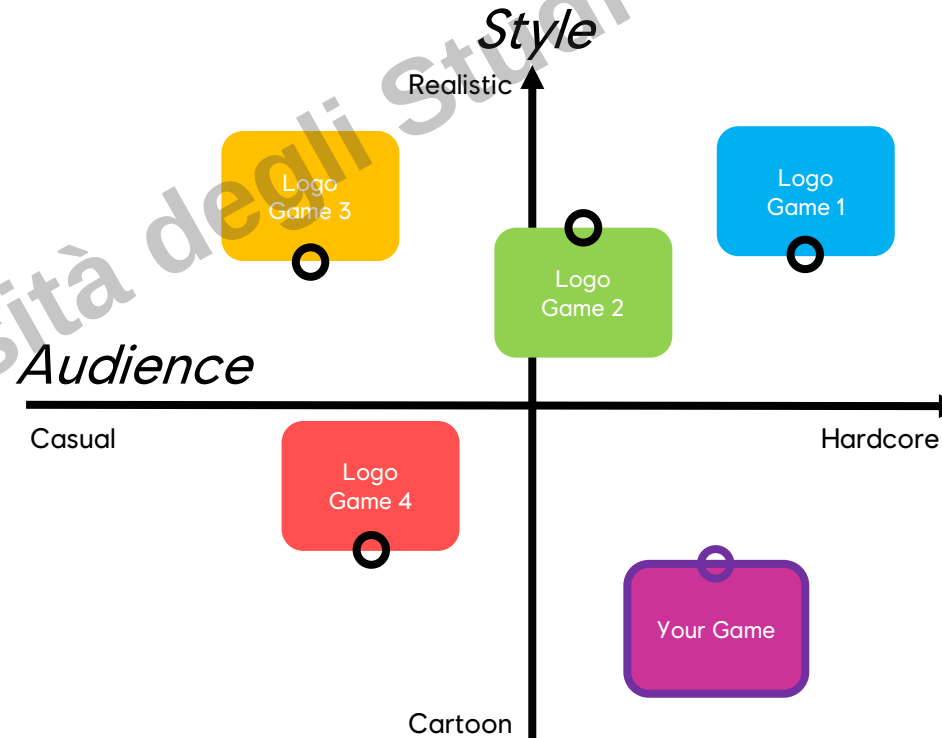

12 ● COMPETITIVE ANALYSIS

Competitive Analysis

You have to convince them that:

- Your game has an audience
- You know exactly which one...
- ... and how big it is

13 ● EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

Executive summary

It's the final slide, that summarizes the most important details.
It will be kept on screen during the Q&A.

Most important details:

- Very short description, covering genre and style
- Budget, timeline and request
- Launch window
- Other very relevant details
